LEGATUM FELLOWS
2021-2022

WHO WE ARE

FELLOWS
19
63% Male
37% Female

WHAT WE STUDY

68% Sloan
5% Sloan & Engineering
11% Engineering
4.5% Engineering & Science
5% Humanities, Arts, & Social Sciences

WHERE WE IMPACT

5
8
6

WHAT WE IMPACT

1 ECOMMERCE
3 CONSUMER GOODS
1 AGRICULTURE
1 ENERGY/UTILITIES
2 FINANCIAL SERVICES
1 RETAIL/WHOLESALE
4 HEALTHCARE
1 FOOD & BEV
Mohamed’s venture, Speetar, is an AI-enabled telehealth platform that links underserved patients in low-resource settings to a global pool of cultural and language-matched medical specialists, breaking down economic, social, and geographic barriers that too often limit patient options for quality care.

Peris’ venture, Farmdrive, is a software and data infrastructure platform that financial service providers use to deliver digital services such as loans, insurance and savings to smallholder farmers in Africa.

Lindelwa’s venture, SHINE, develops and manufactures period proof underwear in order to provide a more affordable and sustainable solution for young girls in low-income areas in South Africa and across the continent.

Milain’s venture, Congo Clothing Company, is leveraging the power of fashion to shine a spotlight on the issue of rape in war in the Democratic Republic of Congo, while creating a framework for economic growth for survivors.

Eric’s venture, Capim, is Brazil’s first impact-oriented “Buy Now-Pay Later” platform offering affordable credit at the point of sale to low-income consumers.

Olatunji’s venture, Tuniyse, reduces Nigeria’s reliance on food imports by introducing techniques and services that modernize the country’s farming industry.

Anukriti’s venture, Samarth WasteEnablers, is formalizing India’s waste management sector and eliminating plastic waste through fintech interventions.

Bhav’s venture, Compass, deploys a mobile-based intervention tool to direct underserved communities to nearby health resources and free clinics.

Zahra’s venture, Annica Health, develops novel, smart, holistic health measures through the use of sound and movement.

Stephen’s venture, Biospheric AI, addresses the problem of poor or nonexistent geodata in low-income countries using state-of-the-art AI systems.
Ahmed’s venture, Little Piccaso’s, is an innovative children’s apparel company that combines sustainable clothing with hands-on education projects focused in the STEAM disciplines.

Harsha’s venture, CARE365.AI, is an AI-based smart digital therapeutics platform offering value based care using an evidence based clinical decision support system.

Roshni’s venture, Hibiscus Monkey, is pioneering a zero waste soil-to-skin mass beauty brand that changes the way we care for ourselves, while reviving Indian agriculture.

Leandro’s venture, Amanda, is a social commerce platform that enables Brazilians to earn income by reselling products on social networks.

Gabriel’s venture, mirlo, allows employees across Mexico to digitally access their earned wages on demand.

Adam’s venture, Almond Finance, extends economic opportunity to the unbanked by providing interoperability across mobile financial service providers and borders.

Ignacio’s venture, Cashflow, helps SMEs manage company cash flow using a simple to use software tool.

Shivang’s venture, Ahara Foods, aims to solve India’s lifestyle disease crisis by bring to the market India’s first guilt-free indulgence foods.

Marinella’s venture, Zumma, is a digital financial platform that allows users to invest in domestic and international markets by making saving and investing simple, transparent and social.